

Train the Trainer Handbook

Sample chapters · Level 1

Chapter 1 · The role of a trainer

A great trainer does more than deliver content. You create a safe space where learners participate, practise and receive feedback. Your job is to make learning happen — not just to talk.

- Facilitator: guide discussion and activities instead of lecturing for long periods.
- Coach: observe, give specific feedback and encourage improvement.
- Role model: be punctual, prepared, patient and respectful.

Chapter 2 · Planning a lesson (the 5E model)

Stage	What happens	Time
Engage	Hook: a question, story or short video	5 min
Explore	Learners try an activity in pairs or groups	10 min
Explain	Trainer clarifies key ideas with examples	10 min
Elaborate	Practice task applying the idea	15 min
Evaluate	Quick quiz, exit ticket or demonstration	5 min

Activity

Write a 30-minute lesson plan for a topic you know well using the 5E stages. Use the Lesson Plan Template provided with this course.

Chapter 3 · Classroom management

- Agree on 3–4 clear class rules on day one and display them.
- Use names, eye contact and movement around the room.
- Plan transitions: tell learners what comes next and how long they have.
- Address disruption calmly and privately; praise positive behaviour publicly.

Chapter 4 · Assessment & feedback

Use short, frequent checks to see what learners understand — quizzes, thumbs-up/down, one-minute papers. Feedback should be specific, timely and actionable.

The feedback sandwich

1) What went well (be specific). 2) One thing to improve and how. 3) Encouragement for next time.

Train the Trainer Handbook

Sample chapters · Level 1

Chapter 5 · Working with parents

- Share progress regularly — the app sends results, attendance and assignment feedback automatically.
- Start conversations with a positive observation.
- Agree on one small goal the parent can support at home.

Certification

To become a Certified Trainer, complete all lessons, pass the final quiz and deliver one observed micro-teaching session. Your certificate can be verified online with its QR code.